

National Certificate in Business (First Line Management) (Level 3)

Level 3

Credits 45

Purpose

This qualification is the first of two qualifications for people who are, or are training to be first line managers (team leaders, supervisors, or charge hands). People in these roles are likely to be responsible for managing people, resources, or workplace operations, and may have had little, or no formal training.

The compulsory section specifies the essential oral communication skills required of first line managers, while the elective sections allow people to select from a diverse range of outcomes to allow the qualification to be focused on the specific needs of the individual, business, or workplace.

Knowledge and skills covered in the first two elective sections include relevant business skills such as administration, quality management, systems and resources, people development, and interpersonal skills. A third elective allows the candidate to choose from anywhere on the National Qualifications Framework to include industry-specific skills and knowledge, or to build on earlier learning, or begin building a career pathway of his/her choosing.

The National Certificate in Business (First Line Management) (Level 3) [Ref: 0743] may lead to the National Certificate in Business (First Line Management) (Level 4) [Ref: 0649] and to other qualifications in the Business field such as the National Diploma in Business (Level 5) [Ref: 0783], or other qualifications in business administration, small business management, or Maori business and management.

Special Notes

It is acknowledged that many people in the workforce may already have the competence in the outcomes specified in individual standards. Those people are able to seek recognition of current competency (RCC) through accredited providers or workplace assessors.

Award of NQF Qualifications

Credit gained for a standard may be used only once to meet the requirements of this qualification.

Unit standards and achievement standards that are equivalent in outcome are mutually exclusive for the purpose of award. The table of mutually exclusive standards is provided in section 7 of the New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA) Rules and Procedures publications available at <http://www.nzqa.govt.nz/ncea/acrp/index.html>.

Reviewed standards that continue to recognise the same overall outcome are registered as new versions and retain their identification number (ID). Any version of a standard with the same Id may be used to meet qualification requirements that list the ID and/or that specify the past or current classification of the standard.

Transition Arrangements

Version 3

Version 3 was issued following review in order to take account of the review and reclassification of the First Line Management standards, and to increase flexibility in the structure to better meet the range of needs of people at this level.

Changes to structure and content

- The title was changed to National Certificate in Business (First Line Management) (Level 3).
- Changes were made to the purpose statement to reflect the new qualification structure.
- The total number of credits for the qualification was increased from 42 to 45.
- The compulsory section was reduced to three standards from domain Interpersonal Communications.
- The elective section was divided into Elective A and Elective B to allow a wider choice of business and communication skills standards.
- A new Elective C was added which allows standards from anywhere on the NQF.

People currently working towards version 2 of this qualification may choose to complete that version or transfer to version 3. The final date for assessments to take place for version 2 is 31 December 2010.

For detailed information see Review Summaries on the NZQA website.

This qualification contains standards that replace earlier standards. For the purposes of this qualification, people who have gained credit for the expiring standards are exempt from the requirement to gain credit for the replacement standards – see table below.

Quality Management Systems

Providers and Industry Training Organisations must be accredited by a recognised Quality Assurance Body before they can register credits from assessment against standards. Accredited providers and Industry Training Organisations assessing against standards must engage with the moderation system that applies to those standards. Accreditation requirements and the moderation system are outlined in the associated Accreditation and Moderation Action Plan (AMAP) for each standard.
